BEAUMONT.

Mrs. J. S. Gordon was at home informally Monday evening to meet her guest, Miss Helen Cline of Nashville, music, dancing and conversation being the entertaining features from 9 until 12. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon entertained with a dancing party at the Woman's Reading Club. The club house was prettily decorated with palms and fern, while white and pink carnations were used to an advantage. Sid Mayer's orchestra furnished music for twelve dances and four extras and the evening was a most delightful one. Among the dancers were Misses Carrie and Natalie Schwartz, Rosalie Mothner, Tina Goodman, Jane and Edyth Hecht, Amelia and Julia Tannenbaum, Bessie and Elizabeth Wiener, Rosa Williams, Lillian Perlstein, Sadie Block of Houston, Raye Silber, Thekla Harrison, Marguerite Philipson, Irma Levy, Josephine and Leah Josey, Hattie Szafir, Messrs. H. Zeve, H. J. Deutscher, O. E. Broyard, A. J. Szafir, A. L. Gordon, A. Harrison, M. Michael, J. E. Lederer, M. Pink, L. H. Goldenberg, F. H. Chester, J. D. Newton, E. E. Schwartz, S. S. Schwartz, D. The party was invited to meet at the corner of Magnolia and North and each couple was given a penny, which they were told to toss up and if heads turned up they should go two blocks to the right and if tails turned up, two blocks to the left, and this should be repeated at the end of every two blocks. The object was to see how near they would be to the corner of Sabine Pass and Emmett at a certain hour and as soon as the party had collected at that corner were escorted a short distance down the river bank where a most delicious luncheon was spread. The Misses Josey are noted for the genuine hospitality, so this affair being a most enjoyable one was nothing unusual. Some forty guests enjoyed this novel entertainment. * * * Mrs. J. S.
